Arkansas Public Policy Panel

The Panel provides training to strengthen grassroots groups and serves as an informal source of information for a variety of individuals and groups on a wide range of issues including environment, taxes, discrimination, and various consumer issues. As a result, the Panel has, over the years, built a broad network of local and statewide groups which it seeks to galvanize into a strong statewide coalition that can work independently of the Panel to correct the imbalance of power in the policymaking process in Arkansas.
